AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL CALIFORNIA PHYSICIANS

Dear Doctor:

AIDS is perhaps the most discussed medical phenomenon of this decade. As Surgeon General Everett Koop has reported, AIDS is a very serious public health hazard which will be increasing in severity and which will require a major response at all levels.

The Surgeon General has called for widespread public education on the prevention of AIDS. He has emphasized the need for everyone, not just high risk groups, to be educated on how to reduce the risk of exposure. It has become apparent in the past few years that almost no-one can be certain of avoiding exposure to this disease. In addition to the kinds of public education that can be developed for the general media, there is a need for primary care physicians to be prepared to educate and counsel their patients.

In addition, there is another educational need particularly pertinent to physicians.

THE BOARD OF MEDICAL QUALITY ASSURANCE HAS NOTED INCREASED ANECDOTAL EVIDENCE THAT MANY PRIMARY CARE PHYSICIANS ARE NOT ADEQUATELY INFORMED OR TRAINED IN HOW TO RECOGNIZE AIDS AND AIDS RELATED COMPLEX (ARC), PARTICULARLY IN THE EARLY STAGES, AND IN HOW TO TREAT THEIR VARIOUS OPPORTUNISTIC INFECTIONS.

We believe that all physicians, particularly primary care practitioners, owe it to themselves and their patients to become educated in the early recognition, differential diagnosis and treatment of AIDS. The odds are approaching certainty that any given primary care physician will encounter a patient with AIDS or ARC, or a positive antibody response, indicating exposure to the virus. You should ask yourself, "Would I recognize AIDS if I saw it in one of my patients?"

In most areas of California there now are AIDS hotlines listed in phone books. Both the CMA and the component county medical societies have created committees on AIDS or have developed other AIDS resources to assist physicians. Many hospitals and other local organizations also are offering CME courses, lectures and programs. In coming issues of the BMQA ACTION REPORT, we will be publishing additional information on resources available to you to increase your knowledge.

Finally, although in the first few years cases of AIDS were concentrated in two high-risk groups--IV drug users and homosexual men—it is now clearly a disease which can affect anyone. A possible diagnosis of AIDS should never by overlooked in a patient with suspicious symptoms in the belief that he or she is not "at risk". The diagnostic workup should follow the same careful procedures you would use for any other infectious disease.

Again, on behalf of the Board, I urge you in the strongest possible terms, to become knowledgeable about this disease. No patient should be given inadequate treatment because his or her doctor didn't know what to do. No person should be exposed needlessly to an essentially incurable disease for lack of education from his or her physician.

Sincerely,

Rendel Levonian, M.D.

PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD

New Requirements Affect Reporting of Physician Discipline

In the last issue of Action Report, we described several recent law changes relating to the BMQA. One of these affects the requirement for health facilities to report physician disciplinary actions to the Board.

Section 805 of the Business and Professions Code requires hospitals and other health facilities to report the following incidents to the licensing boards for physicians, podiatrists or psychologists (BMQA) or for dentists (Board of Dental Examiners) if such action was for any medical disciplinary cause or reason, including voluntary resignation to avoid discipline:

NEW REQUIREMENTS

• Denial of staff privileges;
• Removal from medical staff;
• Restriction of staff privileges for a cumulative total of 45 days in any calendar year.

Reports under Section 805 must be certified by the chief executive officer, and the chief of medical staff if such exists, and must be submitted to the appropriate agency within twenty working days of the action.

Senate Bill 1888, which took effect January 1, 1987, adds several provisions to this section. First, professional societies, medical specialty societies, health care service plans and medical care foundations now are required to make reports to the licensing boards, as above.

Second, all records, statements of charges, documents, medical charts or disciplinary proceeding may be inspected by the board in question. However, such documents shall be kept confidential by the board, and are not subject to discovery.

A third provision of SB 1888 amends the Civil Code. Section 43.97 now provides certain protections for those who file such reports. When a report is made pursuant to Section 805, “There shall be no monetary liability on the part of, and no cause of action for damages, other than economic or pecuniary damages, shall arise against a hospital for any action taken upon the recommendation of its medical staff, or against any other person or organization for any action taken, or restriction imposed, which is required to be reported pursuant to Section 805...”

Again, this immunity applies only if the action is actually reported to the board. Also, “This section shall not apply to an action knowingly and intentionally taken for the purpose of injuring a person affected by the action, or infringing upon a person’s rights.

For information or advice about a particular case or circumstance, you should consult your private legal counsel. Copies of the law changes may be secured by contacting the legislative bill room at the state capital, and requesting a copy of Chapter 1274, Statutes of 1986. The amended version of Section 805 also will be available in 1987 editions of the Business and Professions Code.
Suppose you have a small interest in a physical therapy clinic or a nursing home. Your patient needs some diathermy, or a few weeks postoperative nursing care. Can you refer the patient to your own facility; and, if so, what restrictions apply?

Generally, the answer is "yes, but ...". If you have a significant beneficial interest in an organization, then before you refer to or bill on behalf of that organization you must disclose two things to the patient:

1. That you have a beneficial interest in the organization; and
2. That the patient is free to go to any other organization he or she chooses to receive the same services.

What is a significant beneficial interest?

(A) 5% or more of the whole organization, or
(B) $5,000 or more, whichever is less.

Thus, if you invest $3,000 in Needles Clinical Lab, and that equals 6% of the organization, you must tell your patient. Likewise, if 2% of Happy Hours Home is $8,000, you must disclose this. However, if you own 3% of Victorville Visiting Nurses, and your share equals $4,000, you are off the hook.

There are a couple of important exceptions to this law. If your sole interest is ownership of a building where an organization leases space at prevailing rates on a straight lease agreement, no disclosure is required. Also, ownership of publically traded stock is exempt.

What is meant by an organization? This term applies to any individual, entity, facility, clinic or other provider of health care services. Here, again, there are exceptions. Prepaid health plans licensed by the Department of Health Services are exempt.

How is this disclosure to be made to patients?

There are two choices: You may post a "conspicuous disclosure statement" in an area which is likely to be seen by all patients who use the facility. If you are part of a large organization, one such sign may be posted in a central area such as a registration area, to satisfy this requirement for the entire organization. The second option is to provide each patient a written disclosure at the time a referral is made.

Are there other requirements? Yes. Beginning July 1, 1987, a third-party payer may request information about organizations in which you have an interest as described above. You must provide the information, but each third-party payer can make such a request only once each year.

Finally, this law does not override other laws restricting ownership of one provider by another. Examples include non-physician ownership of a medical corporation, or optometrist ownership of a dispensing optician firm, both of which are prohibited.

Copies of this law, as amended in 1986, are available from the Legislative Bill Room, State Capitol, Sacramento, CA 95814. Ask for Chapter 881, Statutes of 1986. The amended version of Section 654.2 also should be available in 1987 editions of the Business and Professions Code.
